Recession Marketing Myths

Myth: It's safe to reduce your advertising budget if the competition reduces theirs.

FACT: Research shows that companies that advertise during a recession build market share.

Myth: There are no short-term benefits to advertising.

FACT: You'll build sales from current customers and attract new ones.

Myth: Advertising during a recession is just maintaining a brand.

FACT: It's also a way to become a dominant player in the market.

Myth: The brand will magically restore itself after a recession without advertising.

FACT: Oftentimes, it takes advertising campaigns four to six months to produce results. It will cost your company to give up that momentum.
